3/4 of listeners like to learn about local businesses through ads

In today's fast-paced world, our lives are overflowing with information. Our phones never stop buzzing, social media is a constant distraction, and talking heads dominate TV news. Yet, Americans need credible news we can trust. The answer?
Local news radio.

Whether it's during a morning commute, a quick break at work, or the evening wind-down, millions of listeners turn to their trusted news radio stations for the latest updates, insights, and stories that shape their community and the world.

For them, local radio isn't just another news source; it's a trusted voice that's deeply connected to the communities it serves. And that trust doesn't just stop at the news content — it extends to the brands that partner with these stations. At Audacy, we understand this connection, and we know that when you advertise on our news radio stations, you're tapping into something truly special: America's most sought-after audiences.

According to a recent Stagwell news study, there are more news enthusiasts than any other segment of media consumers in the country. In fact "news junkies" are more prevalent than sports or entertainment fans.

These are the individuals who are deeply engaged with the world around them, constantly seeking information, and turning to trusted news sources to stay informed. And they are not just any audience—these are the high-value consumers that brands are eager to reach.

CREDIBILITY COUNTS.

When it comes to the news, trust and credibility count. And so does brand safety. That's a term frequently used in the news arena, and for good reason. Advertisers need to know that their brand messaging is showing up on a platform that's trusted, and their ads are placed around stories that steer clear of volatile or controversial topics.

That's why Audacy partnered with market research consultancy, Alter Agents – to uncover the truth about news advertising when it comes to attention, engagement, trust, and brand safety. And the results are pretty eye ear-opening.

NEWS RADIO IS MORE TRUSTED THAN ANY OTHER MEDIUM

At a time when Americans need dependable news, reliable sources are shrinking. While local newspapers are closing down and cable news bleats opinions, news radio is more vital than ever. Local news radio sticks to a time-tested formula: delivering fact-based, unbiased journalism. No spin, just news. That nonpartisan, community-focused approach builds deep trust with listeners.

REPUTATION MATTERS: NEWS RADIO ADVERTISERS ACCESS A BRAND-SAFE ENVIRONMENT

In an era when the line between news and opinion is increasingly blurred, many brands are wary of associating themselves with potentially polarizing content. At Audacy's news stations, we offer a solution. Our news content is designed to be inclusive, focusing solely on delivering factual, unbiased reporting. We cover a wide range of segments, from business and traffic to weather and sports, creating a balanced, brand-safe environment for our advertisers, and ensuring your brand is always positioned next to reliable, unbiased content.

Unlike cable and local TV news, which often follow the "if it bleeds, it leads" mantra, our audience gets to experience useful, informative news that helps listeners navigate their day and stay informed.

BRANDS IN ACTION

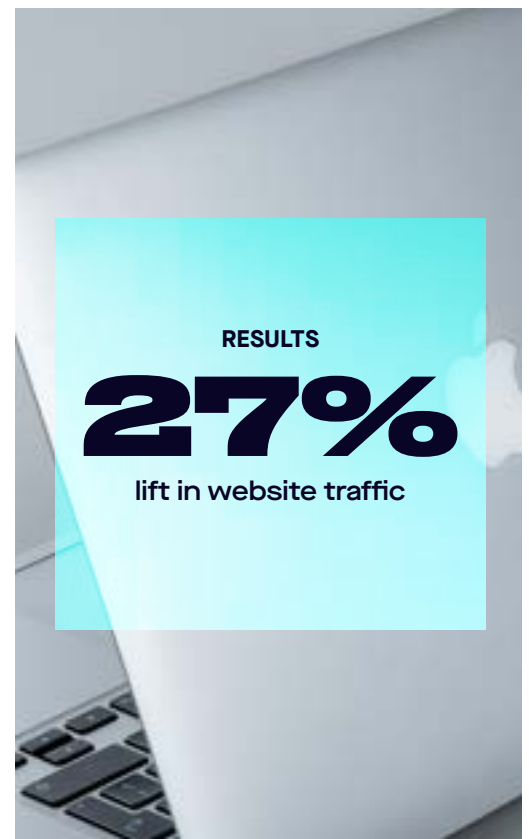

DRIVING SALES SUCCESS FOR LOCAL BUSINESS

C&C Heating & Air Conditioning, a locally based HVAC company in Souderton, PA was facing stiff competition from larger companies when they turned to KYW Newsradio for a creative, standout solution. C&C partnered with us on two weather-triggered programs, Winter Weather Watch and Summer Weather Watch. This included a comprehensive suite of advertising assets — commercials, sponsorships, streaming audio impressions, and website takeovers.

The results? A significant increase in call volume and website traffic. When there was a lull between programs, the client noticed an immediate drop in calls, directly correlating to the absence of their ads on KYW. With the support of Audacy Analytics, C&C could clearly see the efficacy of their campaign, which led them to expand their relationship further as an Audacy Elite advertiser.
